What can be said about Misty Maiden that has not already been said? She has received every accolade there is. And deserving so. No other dam in the alpaca industry has produced more champion offspring than has Misty. The one accolade that seems to define Misty is, "Dam of the Century." Her like may never be known again. Apart from the countless ribbons her offspring have garnered, there is something about Misty that sets her apart. Her genetics and fleece are dominant and prized by discerning breeders. She is the acknowledged matriarch of our herd—respected for her wisdom and guidance by all the alpacas. She is calm, serene and content with being surrounded by many of her extended family. She is in remarkable health and is well-cared for. Her regal eyes identify Misty in a crowd. Her daughters, May and Mirabelle are usually at her side.

Today, we are excited to announce that Misty is confirmed pregnant, due in early fall '11, with our farm-bred and raised Bonsai herdsire. This may well be Misty's last cria before she is retired so it is special on that merit alone. We are accepting reservations for this much-anticipated cria. Misty genetics are the gem of any breeding program that seeks to distinguish itself. We have nine Misty offspring (more than any other farm) that are currently offered for sale at specially reduced prices. In the end, quality is the standard of any investment and an investment in Misty Maiden genetics is about as "blue-chip" as it gets. The last direct offspring sale of a Misty son or daughter was our sale of Silverbelle to Mary Goodman of Mary's Alpacas for $50K in 2006. Each birth since then resides at our farm. The sale of any female comes with a free breeding to one of our herdsires (we recommend our Michelangelo son, Bonsai). Now is the best time to invest in quality Misty Maiden genetics.
